

STIEGEL ROSE

'54

CLASS of '54 PRESENTS...

"ALICE
IN WONDERLAND"

Foreword

Last year the first yearbook in the history of Manheim Central High School was published. This year the Class of '54 endeavored to match that fine initial edition of the Stiegel Rose.

Once again the staff was faced with many problems and hard work but with the willing help of classmates, friends and advertisers the book was finally completed.

As Alice in Wonderland leads you through this book we hope it will bring back pleasant memories that you will treasure all your life.

Table of Contents

Dedication

We, the members of the class of 1954, dedicate this second edition of the "Stiegel Rose" to you, the students of Manheim Central High School, as a remembrance of the many educational and enjoyable functions that we have shared with you throughout the past years. If we have in any way helped you acquire a better understanding of humanity, which may help you in later life, then our four years at Manheim Central High School have accomplished a purpose.

FACULTY

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGES

The members of the class of 1954 are to be congratulated for their efforts in securing the information for the year book. You will only realize in future years the satisfaction it will give you to review the activities during your high school years.

It requires the cooperation of the board of directors, pupils and faculty, as well as the people in the community in order to achieve the most desirable results in education.

Many members of the class have reached their goal in formal education upon graduation from high school, while others will continue in other institutions of learning. May I suggest that you assume a sincere attitude in trying to do your best in whatever line of work you may follow. Congratulations and good luck to every member of the class.

H. C. Burgard

Supervising Principal

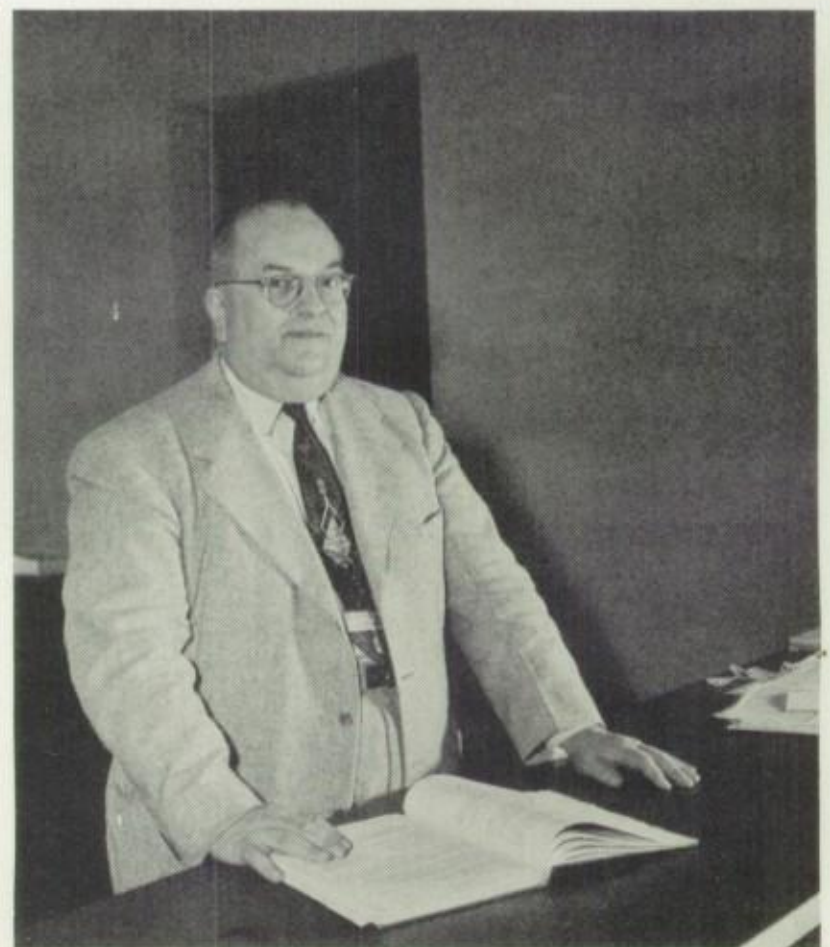

The class of 1953 in publishing the first year book for our school, has done a very fine job and has set a high standard for other staffs to maintain. I should like to congratulate last year's staff for their fine performance.

The publication of this yearbook has presented a challenge to you, the members of the class of 1954, and more especially your staff, to surpass the work of your predecessors. After graduation life will be continually presenting opportunities to you so that, in making your contribution to society, you may surpass the achievements of your neighbors and friends in order that the community, the state, and the nation may be made a better place in which to live.

May I congratulate the members of the class of 1954 on your achievements so far and wish you the greatest of success in the future.

D. W. Witmer

Principal

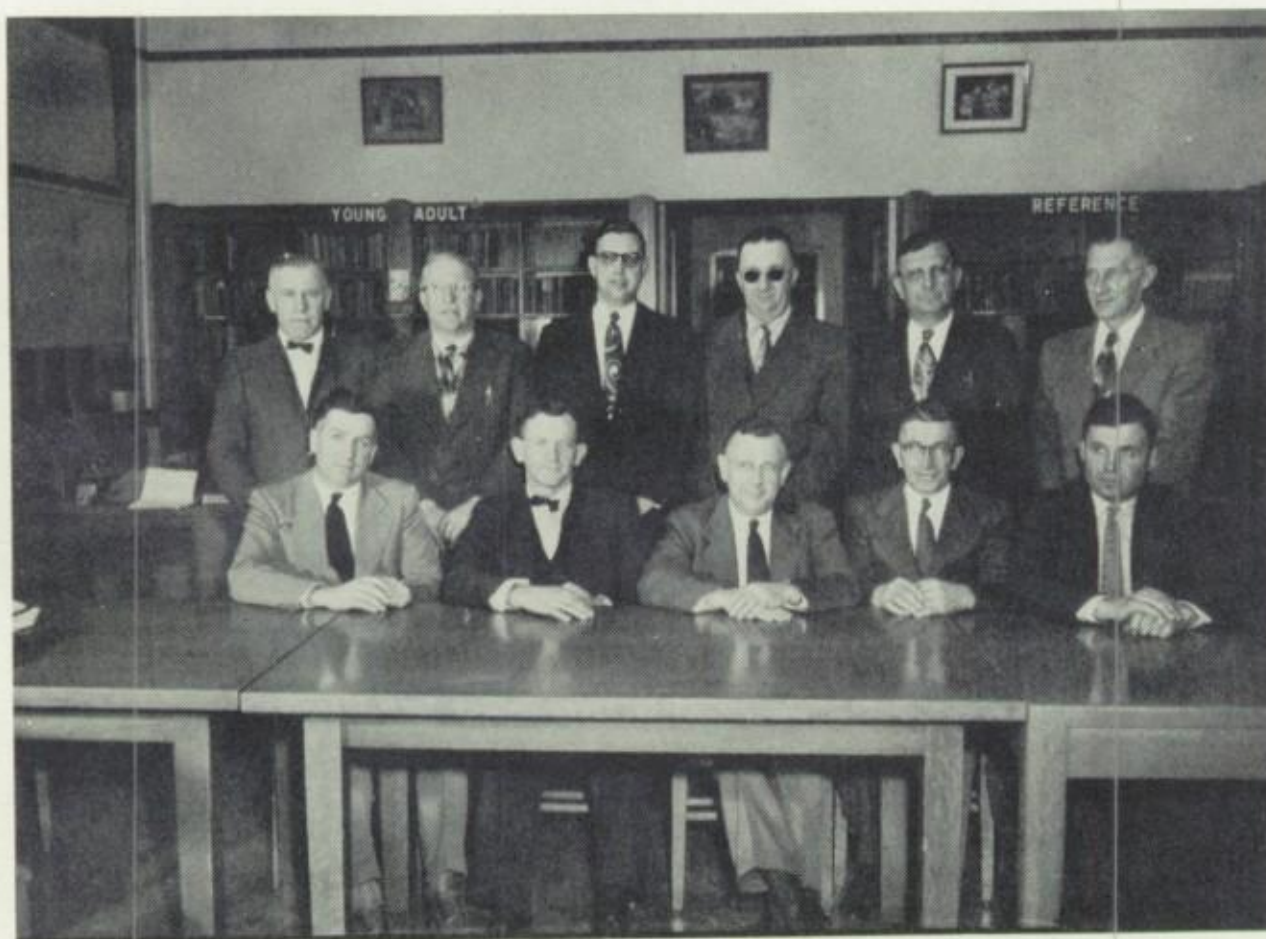

It has been my privilege to know most of the members of the Class of 1954 for a number of years. It has been my misfortune not to have known some of you a longer time. However, you are all entering a world of almost "irrepressible conflict," uncertainty, and indecision. Your lives will take on a greater meaning, and your responsibilities as a worthwhile citizen shall increase tenfold. As a class you will physically separate and scatter. This is not a pleasant outlook, and you shall need courage and determination to conquer all the obstacles thrown in your path.

On behalf of my co-workers, I wish you every success for the future. It is our hope that the lessons you have learned in high school will, in some small way, aid you in attaining whatever success you may seek in life.

Ass't Principal

The English Department has the manifold responsibility of teaching such subjects as grammar, literature, debating, public speaking and composition. Undertaking this job very ably are Miss Theora Bishop, Miss Phoebe Hunter, Mrs. Vivian H. Brown, Miss Margaret Stephens and Earl Stoner.

Social studies, which includes problems of democracy, American history, ancient history and Pennsylvania history, is a subject which tells us of the past and how to prepare for the future. Here Mr. Young leads a discussion with his fellow history teachers, Charles Longenecker, Harry Earhart, Andrew Hummer and Robert A. Weitzel.

Mathematics, which gives a good foundation for clear thinking and sound reasoning, is a field which includes arithmetic, algebra, geometry and trigonometry. D. W. Witmer is shown explaining a problem to his fellow teachers, Arthur H. Heipler, James A. Kennedy, and Emerson N. Rothenberger.

Teaching the subjects of Chemistry and Physics, Geography, General Science, and Biology are Mr. Donald Savitz, Mr. Bernard Reese, Miss Janet Wood, and Mr. John Stern.

Miss Dorothy Auxer, Mr. Sherwood Hollobaugh, and Miss Majorie Hodgkins, physical education teachers, have a discussion.

Special teachers are: Miss Rosanna Brandt, vocal music; Mrs. Robert Stormfeltz, art; Mr. Richard Breneisen, industrial art; and Mr. Joseph Fauber, instrumental music.

Since we live in the Garden Spot of the world, it is necessary that we have persons who are both willing and able to teach us how to properly use the fertile soil that surrounds us. To accomplish this task we have with us in our agriculture classes, Joseph McGahen, Elbert Scouten (drafted) and Kenneth Shifflet (replacing E. Scouten).

Miss Anna Mudrinich and Mrs. Josephine Hackman efficiently train the commercial students through the subjects of typing, bookkeeping and short hand.

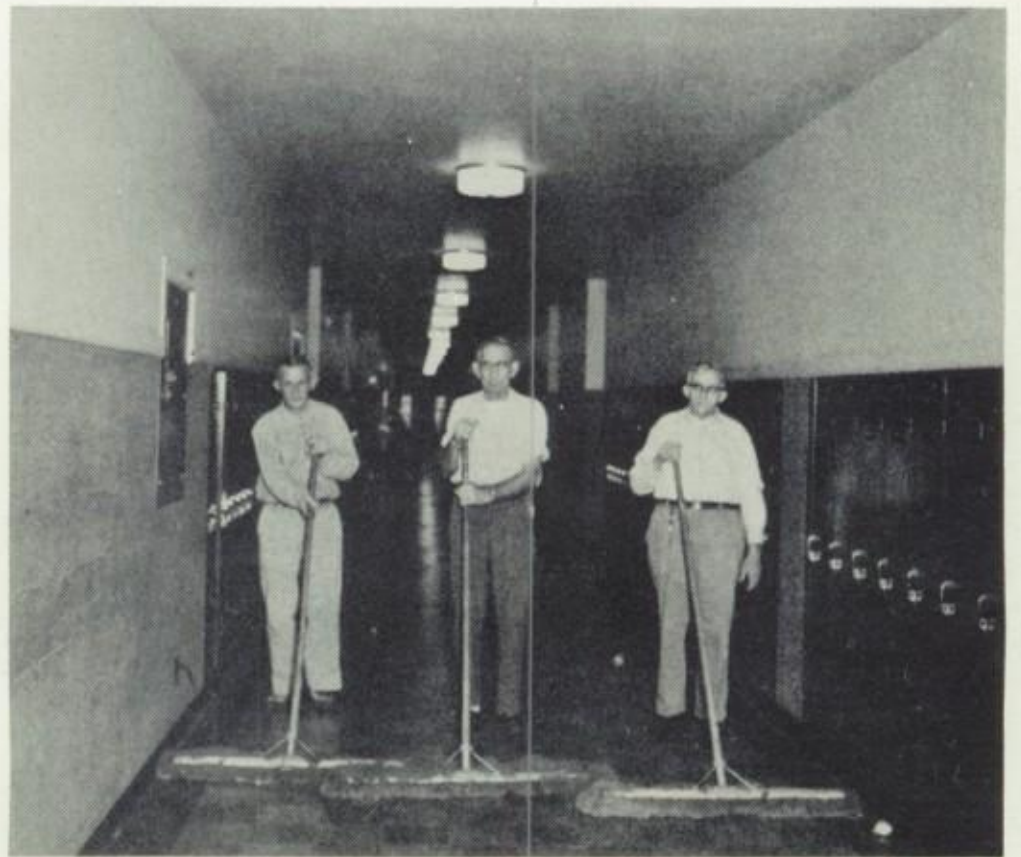

Miss Catherine O. Reppert and Mrs. Catherine C. Hiney, the teachers in the Home Economics department of our school, are shown here, busy at one of the many jobs the department requires.

Manheim Central High janitors are: Mr. Harry Diehm, Mr. Sam Helt and Mr. Christ Brandt.

Always watchful of the students' health are the school nurses. Here Mrs. Marion H. Earhart, dental hygienist, checks John Hollinger's teeth under the observation of school nurses Mrs. Leah P. Dinkel and Mrs. Jane S. Ruhl.

MISS STEPHENS

We, of the class of 1954, should like to pay tribute to one of our best teachers who will be retiring voluntarily this year — Miss Margaret Stephens. Miss Stephens has a memorable record of thirty-seven years in the field of teaching, seven of which were in a one room school in York County. Thirty years of her career have been spent teaching English, history and geography in the Manheim Schools.

Graduated from Millersville State Teachers' College, Miss Stephens has done graduate work at Pennsylvania State College and the University of Maryland.

Miss Stephens is retiring voluntarily this year in order that she may enjoy her home in York County and also that she may be free to continue her travels. In the past she has traveled extensively through the United States, Canada, Mexico, China, Japan, the Philippines and, most recently, Europe.

Miss Stephens, who has always enjoyed teaching, has appreciated the courtesy and kindness of the people of Manheim and the co-operation of the administration and the school board while she has been a teacher here. She will continue to watch the development of Manheim Central with the greatest interest in the years to come.

As the graduating class, we should like to say to Miss Stephens, "Thank you for your wonderful work."

A most necessary part of our school is the Clerical Staff. The responsibility of keeping the office in order belongs to Mrs. Laura L. Wittel and Mrs. Mary L. Engle.

SENIORS

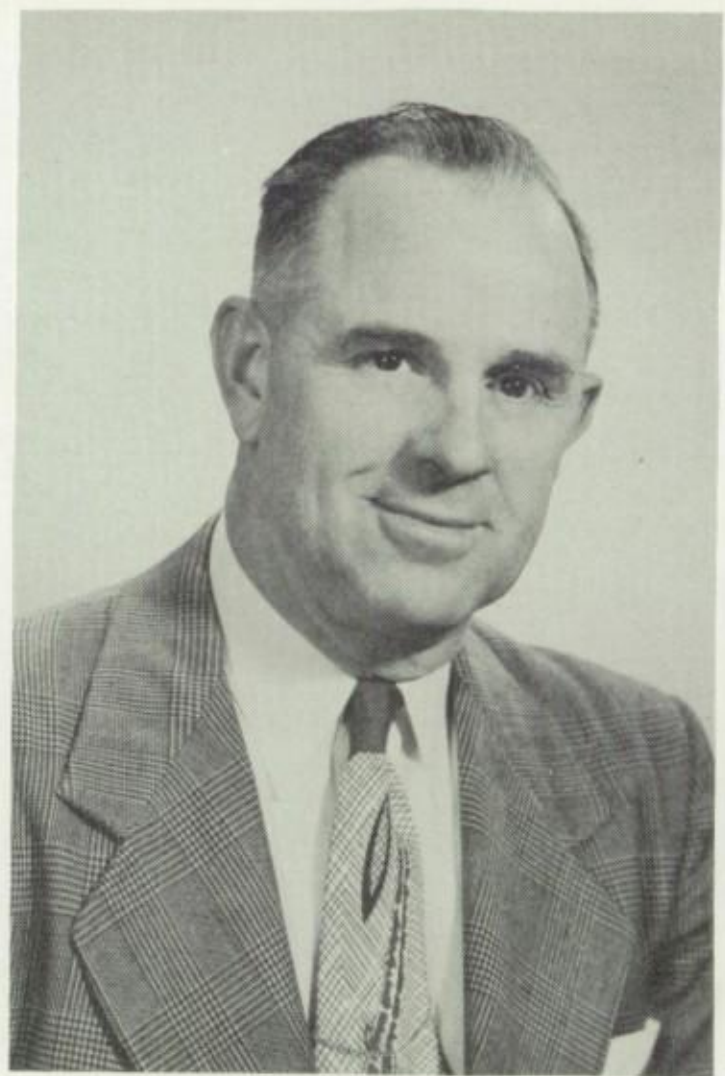

CATHERINE O. REPPERT

With the culmination of your high school days comes the realization of adulthood with its joys, sorrows, responsibilities and sacrifices. If you have made the best use of your time, harkened to the wisdom of your elders, amassed knowledge, and learned to work and play with others, I'm sure you will have a full and useful life. Best wishes for happiness and success in all you do.

Class Prophecy

What will the members of this Class of 1954 be doing in the future? To find the answer, let's consult the crystal ball. The picture's rather cloudy — ah, now it's getting clear! My, but there are a lot of different scenes revealed. Let's look at some of them.

There's a big office building and there are quite a lot of smart-looking employees. Let's see, there's Lorraine Bollinger, Lois Faus, Christine Geib, Helen Nohrenhold, Carl Hines, Hettie Stauffer, Marian Nauman, Doris Jean Heisey, Carol Buch, Peggy Fink, Kathleen Young, Dorothy Shoff, Pauline Miller, Barbara Heagy, Miriam Kline, and Patsy Leister. In the offices of the big bosses we see Darlene Rohrer, Doris Shenenberger, and Janet Heagy, who are private secretaries. Who's that in charge of books — oh, yes, it's Arlene Hornberger.

Now, let's go downtown into the shopping district. There's Joan Stern's Ultra-Exclusive Shop. Inside, working as clerks are Marian Garybill, Audrey Earhart, Esther Peters, and Miriam Nolt. In the next block is the world's largest Acme Store. There we see the manager, Kenneth Jenkins. We must be in Baltimore, because there's Johns Hopkins Hospital. Inside we're greeted by the head nurse, Jean Hummer, who shows us some of her nurses and nurses aids, Barbara Graybill, Kathryn Shelly, Mary Jane Graybill, Susan Kline, and Shirley Gantz. Working on the new wing of the hospital, plastering, we see Carl Bender. Down the street we come to a big Cadillac salesroom. Inside we see Patrick Miller and Simeon Suter selling a solid gold Cadillac to that famous automobile connoisseur, Glenn Graybeal. There in the First National Bank we see Judy Geib and Harry Oberholtzer, clerking.

Let's hitch a ride back to Manheim. Here comes a truck and look who's driving it — Dick Weachter. Look at the beautiful farms we're passing. Let's read the names on the mailboxes — Mervin Siegrist, Donald Hevener, Charles Cassel, John Hoffer, Edwin Martin, Edward Graybill, Edward Fry, Mervin Shelly and Thomas Martzall. Who's that at the next mailbox — why it's Joan Killheffer. Guess she's pretty busy now, taking care of that farmer. Here are a couple of ranches. The first one is the home of the famous race horse trainer, Jerry Mumma, and the second, the dairy farm of Wilbur Gibble. Now we're in Manheim again. There's the school. Let's go in and see what the old place looks like. Look who's teaching those seventh graders — Lucy Ann Gibble. John Hollinger has replaced Mr. Young teaching history, Jim Shank has taken Mr. Savitz's place as chemistry teacher, and Shirley Gibble's teaching art. That well known illustrator, Darlene Birkenbine, is giving a lecture to the senior art class. Talking to Shirley, we find that Carole Shank's busy with her musical career and Sandy Weidman is still working for her doctor's degree. Jack Weichel is working as a darkroom technician, Kenneth Boyer is head chemist at Armstrong's, Dale Stauffer has a chain of greenhouses and Dick Edmonds and Jay Keener are in the Navy (Jay's a machinist's mate).

We'd better hurry if we want to catch that plane for New York. Clair Stoner, the pilot, will see to it that we get to see Ronald Adams and Larry Tshudy in their latest play.

Oh, the crystal ball's getting cloudy again. I guess that's all for now.
